第8問(15点)

Last Sunday, my classmates and I joined a volunteer activity in our town. We cleaned a park near our school because many people use it every day. At first, I thought the work would be boring, but I changed my mind after I started working with my friends. We picked up trash, pulled out weeds, and planted colorful flowers. Many local people thanked us for our work.

After we finished, our teacher bought drinks for everyone. We were tired, but we were happy because the park looked much cleaner than before. I learned that even small actions can make our town a better place. I want to join another volunteer activity during my summer vacation.

問題
